Seventeen was the number of Odd-fellows and Rebekahs attending the memorial day services at Milo on Sunday last, May 10, motoring to that point from Vulcan. The services were held in the Milo community hall with a very large attendance.

Mr. Roy Greene and staff of the local telephone office are busy engaged these days beautifying the premises by preparing the lawn, planting flowers and caring for the trees. It is hoped that the Vulcan office will again win the shield for first place in competition for the most beautiful surroundings this year, as it did last.

Mr. H. Clifton will be the evangelist at Gospel meetings to be held in the Cottonwood Grove school (known to many as the Loma school) commencing Sunday evening, May 17th at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Clifton will use a chart explaining "the two roads and the two destinies." Week night meetings will commence at 8 p.m. Everybody welcome.

Seeding is practically finished. With yet a small area of oat seedling to be done, and early sown wheat up the farmer is nearly through with spring work. In many places this early wheat has been nipped by the wind and soil drifting of last week. The precipitation the past week has been very slight and although the crops are not suffering to any extent, moisture at the present time would be welcome.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Our Evangelistic meeting is now in full swing. Mr. Ladd is a real preacher. All services on Sunday will be at the usual hours. Mr. Ladd will preach at both the 11:30 and 8:00 meetings on Sunday.

WE MUST TELL IT

From Lafleche, Sask., last week, we were delighted to receive the following complimentary lines from one who is experienced in the newspaper business: "I have enjoyed your paper immensely, and congratulate you on the splendid local paper you produce each week."

The Commercial Telegraphers of the C.P.R. have voted to take a voluntary lay-off equivalent to 10 per cent of their monthly salary in order to retain many in the service who would otherwise be laid off.

On Sunday afternoon the Auburn and Kirkcaldy men's baseball teams played a fast game on the latter's grounds. The Kirkcaldy bunch proved too good for their opponents and won by a narrow margin.

The ladies' softball team from Kirkcaldy motored to Vulcan on Monday evening of this week and played a second game with Mrs. Fletcher's "crack" team of that point. The Vulcan ladies proved the best players and won, but Kirkcaldy team is still out to win.

Three Barons Students Keho Lake Victims

Boat Ride Has Tragic Ending; Two Survivors

Keho lake claimed three lives Sunday afternoon when a motor boat carrying five Barons high school students capsized precipitating the young people into seven feet of water. This is the first drowning fatality of the present season and has plunged this community into mourning.

The victims of the drowning accident, all members of well known Barons families, are Stanley Crow, Lloyd Campbell and Ruby McCrae, all under 17 years of age.

Stanley Paulson and Rosanna Crow the other members of the party, escaped death when Stanley, a powerful swimmer, swam ashore with the girl. Lloyd Campbell could swim but whether Stanley Crow and Ruby McCrae could swim is not known.

News of the triple drowning reached Barons from the Keho lake, between four and five o'clock. Immediately the authorities and a medical man were notified and search parties were organized. Drugging was rewarded in the finding of the bodies.

According to local officials of the Alberta Provincial Police including Constable Bull, who were notified immediately after the fatalities, the drownings must have occurred about five o'clock.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

The Vulcan prize band have been engaged for an open-air concert to be held in Okotoks on Sunday, May 24th. This concert will give our band wide publicity as it will be advertised over "the air" from a Calgary broadcasting station. The concert will be held in the park at that point and no doubt Vulcan people will travel in large crowds to hear this entertainment.

A real novelty is the model of an oil derrick built by Mr. Lund in front of his new service station, situated north of McQueen's blacksmith shop. The new service station will supply Texaco and Turner Valley gases, as well as other motorists needs. Mr. and Mrs. Lund are new citizens in Vulcan, coming here from Turner Valley. The Advocate welcomes them to our community.

The ladies of C. W. L. held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, May 7th, at the home of Mrs. Dave McIntyre. It was decided to hold a rose tea on June 6th in the basement of the Catholic church. A prize will be given to the member making perfect attendance by the end of the year. After business the hostess served a dainty lunch. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Stack on Thursday, June 4th.

VULCAN—TEN YEARS AGO

Interesting Facts Gleaned from Advocate Files of May 11, 1921 by the "Cub Reporter"

Community Club notes: Mr. Flood had written to the Department of Public Works at Edmonton in the view of having a children's playground.

The Vulcan band is presenting their play on Thursday night "All Tangled Up." A good crowd is expected—everybody welcome.

The crop conditions in the Vulcan district were never more favorable than this year 1921. Early spring, land ideal for cultivation purposes.

The Oddfellows Memorial Services of the local lodge were held on Sunday, May 16th to celebrate the 102nd anniversary of same.

This year services were held at Milo in honor of the 112th anniversary. Saturday, May 7th being the eighth anniversary of the birth of little Sylvia Seaman, this popular little lady celebrated the occasion by giving a party.

Wanted—Two or three old Ford cars. Some of us wish we could give them away now.

BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

Ball teams from Stavelly, Carmangay and Vulcan will compete in a baseball tournament to be held in Vulcan's grounds on May 25th.

Stavelly has always produced a fast team and no doubt many of the old favorites from there will be seen in action.

Carmangay always a good baseball town, is reported to have a strong aggregation lined up for this season. These teams with Vulcan's well-balanced club, who have proved their ability in several games already played this season, should give the fans some real entertainment on the 25th.

MOSSLEIGH TEAM TRIMS VULCAN BASEBALL BOYS

A good crowd of Vulcan ball fans drove to Mossleigh last Sunday to witness an exciting ball game between Vulcan and Mossleigh which went two extra innings to break a five-all tie for Mossleigh to win 6-5.

Vulcan got away to a bad start in the game when Mossleigh's strong team consisting of all former Carmangay players, got away to a five-run lead in the first two innings, after which Welliver, Vulcan's pitcher, settled down to pitch an air tight game with the result that Mossleigh did not score again until the eleventh inning.

Vulcan had a wonderful chance to bring in runs in the second inning when with the bases full, three batters struckout in succession. Through out the rest of the game however, the local boys kept hitting consistently and tied up the game in the eighth innings.

Bill Recore received a painful injury when a bat slipped out of a batter's hands and struck him on the knee. He continued in the game although so badly injured he could hardly walk.

For Vulcan, Welliver pitched a great game except for the first two innings when his control was bad and resulted in a number of walks to opposing players. However he has lots of speed and will prove a wonderful help to the Vulcan club this summer. Harry Ferguson at short, and Stickney in left field, made some sensation at catches. At bat, Bill Recore, Ray Flynn, Murray, Marshall and Ferguson, did some good hitting and on a whole the team showed a good class of baseball which the local fans will enjoy watching throughout the coming season. Line-up:

Vulcan—Recore, c; Welliver, p; Mensinger, 1st; Murray, 2nd; Ferguson, ss; Flynn 3rd; Clark rf; Marshall cf; Stickney, lf.

He is progressing as well as can be expected.

The Vulcan Prize Band Pleases Large Audience

The Vulcan Citizen's Prize Band lived up to its reputation, on Thursday 7th, by staging one of the finest concerts of the season at the Vulcan Theatre, Mayor Butchart presiding. The program was of a high order, featuring the vocalists who are competing in the Lethbridge festival competition on May 26, who, before a large audience gave a good account of themselves. Quite an improvement (under the baton of Mrs. White) is noticeable in the junior choir of the United Church who rendered the two test pieces to the entire satisfaction of the audience. The soprano solo, which is to be contested by Miss Hartwig, is of a high order and a severe test to the voice, but was handled in a masterly manner which shows the result of hard work and training. Miss Ruth Peterson, who for the first time appeared on the stage as a concert singer, gave a pleasing rendering of the test piece in her class; this is not of an appealing nature but Ruth stays right with it, and with systematic practice for the remaining two weeks before the contest should be favorably considered by the judges. Master Willie Weale gained much applause for the way in which he put over his contest number. Willie has had lots of experience and has made the best of it. Other items on the program were a duet by Miss Beulah Walker and Mrs. White being the first time they have appeared in duet; their team work was especially good, with brilliant tone colors, and was well received. Another great attraction on the evening's program was a dancing exhibition by the Peterson sisters (a Dutch dance and a soft shoe dance); this variety number added pep to the evening's entertainment and it is hoped that they will appear again very soon.

The band's program was considered the best of the season, special mention being made of "The Scarlet King" and "Washington Post." It is evident that the band was never in better shape and it is to be hoped that the boys will rally round their conductor, Mr. R. H. Weale, then we shall not have much to fear at the next Stampede contest on July 6th.

Mayor Butchart after thanking the audience on behalf of the band and himself, for their support, closed the proceeding in the usual way by singing of "God Save the King."

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Stringam, M.L.A. of Cardston, were visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Willard Snow recently.

Softball seems to be the popular pastime in Vulcan these days with new teams forming and games being played every day. Perhaps enough teams can be formed to compose a league, as last year, as much fun and exercise can be derived from this sport.

Master Irvie Bowie met with a painful accident last week, while playing baseball with a group of boy chums. He was in the act of catching the ball and had the second finger of his right hand broken. Baseball will be "taboo" with Irvie for several weeks now.

The Vulcan junior baseball team motored to Red Cross on Saturday last to play the junior team of that district. The game was very keenly contested by both teams, the final score being 8 to 10 in favor of the Vulcan lads. These boys deserve the support of the entire community; see their games.

Two congolesque rugs were given away on Saturday last in free guessing contests at both John Wolfe's Hardware and the Vulcan Supply Company. These rugs have been on display in both business places the last two weeks and in a sealed envelope attached, was a number on which the nearest correct guess won. At Wolfe's store, Mrs. A. E. White was the lucky person with a guess of number 1875, the correct one being 1570; and at Vulcan Supply Miss Doris Jones of the hospital staff, made a very close solution with number 1760, the correct one being 1780.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

11 a.m., this service will be in charge of the C.G.I.T. groups; the girls have been most fortunate in securing as their special speaker, Miss W. Gilhooly of Calgary. Miss Gilhooly was at one time a member of the Vulcan public school staff and since that time has completed her University course and fitted herself for this type of work.

7:30 p.m., Rev. F. W. Locke of Nanton, will be in charge when special music will be rendered by the choir.

The Vulcan Advocate

Men everywhere are coming more and more to understand and appreciate the part the rural press is taking in the affairs of the nation. And its usefulness has increased with its prosperity and the public's confidence in it.

An Independent Weekly Newspaper issued every Thursday afternoon, at the office of publication, Vulcan Alberta. Subscription price per year, in Canada $2.00; United States and other countries $2.50. Advertising rates furnished on request.

CHARLES CLARK, Proprietor
TOM WHITTINGHAM, Editor and Manager

WORLD COMPETES

At least eighty-four countries have been invited to join the International Grain Conference at Regina in 1932, and there is every likelihood that fully fifty will participate. This is the recent statement of Hon. George Hoadley, who sees in the Congress a great opportunity for Canadian wheat growers to establish an unquestioned reputation in the markets of the world. He urges that the greatest consideration be given to quality of grain grown, and that farmers generally take an interest in the exhibits. He speaks with approval of the number of young people who are making scientific study of agriculture and grain growing.

There is apparent in this district as in others a keener desire to produce wheat of quality, than in previous years. This year's wheat will be next year's exhibit.

If Canada's wheat bulk large in the prize-winning classes, it will give her grain a world dominance. If this district can contribute to the prize-winning classes, it will give the district an enviable place.

This is a discouraging year in many respects, but there is a strong incentive to wheat growers to give special care to their products.

MEIGHEN SOLUTION

When Canada is situated with thousands of underfed people and her granaries filled to bursting, it is evident that there is something seriously wrong with the circulation of currency. To an even greater extent this situation is true of other countries of the world. The talk of over-production is long since exploded. Half the world is in dire need of that which is being produced, but all lines of communication are down between the needy and the producer.

It is to re-establish buying power, not on a national scale but on a world scale, that Arthur Meighen come forward with the suggestion of stabilizing silver.

Whether or not it is the solution of present trade troubles, is a question which he has brought to the forefront of discussion. One English banker says that the country which sets out to rehabilitate silver values will be acclaimed immediately, the friend of the teeming Eastern world. The buying power of the Oriental market is of importance to Canada. The same banker, himself an authority on the silver question, is of the opinion that this should be thoroughly investigated before the Conference of the Dominion at Ottawa.

However, there are many British bankers distinctly averse to this proposal. They have what is known as the "gold mentality" and are of the opinion that matters will only improve along traditional lines.

It is apparent that the distribution of wealth, and the currency problem are being regarded by national leaders as ripe for revision. Financial interests are being attacked from many different angles, but they are being attacked by so many men of widely divergent political beliefs, that there must be strong ground for suspecting that they do not operate for general good. Hon. Robt. Weir launched his bolt at the banking methods in Western Canada. Mr. George Coote's theory of depreciated currency has received more favorable notice from political economists in the East, than is generally realized amongst his own constituents.

Hon. Arthur Meighen is a man for whose opinions all have respect. If his silver drive would release the crippled Asiatic countries and permit them to buy this would mean much to Canada's trade.

NOT DOLE BUT WORK

Hon. R. B. Bennett has voiced the conviction of all Canadians in discouraging any hope of "dole." This is a young country; it's people are young in years, in the full strength of manhood. A dole system would sap enterprise and initiative, more insidiously than any other method of treatment.

What Canadians want is the opportunity to work, to rise in the morning knowing that they have a steady job to go to, to have their own roofs over their heads, and an adequate larder, and adequate clothing, to bring up children healthfully.

Canadians are a home-loving people. The impulse to get ahead, to establish themselves, to marry and rear families is strong within them. But these fundamental needs are denied them when there is no work to do. It says their self respect.

At the vital problem of finding employment for unemployed Canadians could be solved, a scheme of unemployment insurance could surely be found to take care of the seasonal occupations.

By refusing to consider the dole system, only the negative side of the question has been settled. Unemployment insurance can not be worked out satisfactorily until there is employment.

If there is no very tangible likelihood of increased employment within the next few months, the government should at once lay plans for feeding and housing its people next winter on some economical wholesale basis, as it would feed an army.

POOR UNEMPLOYED

"Money is chief amongst the unemployed" declares the New York Times. "No one has been longer out of work, or is more anxiously looking for a job. All the large banks report idle funds. Money is spoken of in Wall Street as a drug. It has dropped as low as one per cent. on call loans, as compared with twenty per cent. in the speculative days of 1929."

"There is the spectacle of a great potential energy waiting to be applied. The driving power of industry is present. Steam is up but the wheels do not turn."

"Bankers and captains of industry were so badly burned with the recklessness of two years ago, that they dread the fire. But what is there really to be afraid of? All believe in the bright future ahead."

"Conditions in Europe are much less disquieting. In a financial way than in the boom years following the war. The chief trouble particularly in Germany and Poland is lack of capital. This, United States has in abundance. Why should this capital not be placed at the disposal of other countries. If we are to get over times of depression, it is not to be done by hoarding capital. Increased employment for money must also be begun at home. We require a change in mental attitude as well as physical effort."

WHO WILL TEACH?

Next year the students in training at Alberta Normal schools are to be reduced to 700. This year 955 teachers are in attendance at Normal, with a likelihood that at least 900 will be fully qualified teachers when the term is over.

It is a somewhat discouraging outlook for young people who have spent several years in industrious study and are now prepared to plunge into the tide of wage earners. A tide is running low and the supply of teachers far exceeds the demand.

The teaching profession has absorbed a great many of the High School graduates of the province during past years. It has been regarded as one of the sure ways of breaking into the wage earning world. More than that, the initial salaries compare favorably with those in other lines of endeavor, and regardless of whether or not a student has any special "call" or liking for teaching the usual move after High School graduation has been to go to Normal.

Most of the Normal graduates made a fair success of teaching and those who discovered that they had no aptitude, usually dropped out into other ranks.

With the over-production of teachers now existing, graduates will hesitate some time before applying for entrance to Normal. This may work out to the advantage of the profession as a whole, as only those with the real "urge" to impart knowledge, and confidence that they can teach well, will go into the necessary training, and risk the uncertainty of employment in their chosen profession. Other graduates will turn to occupations for which they are better adapted.

Several suggestions have been made to deal with this over production of teachers. Some suggest a further High School training. But another year of high school work and the added accumulation of knowledge might be of no great value in teaching the subjects required in public school instruction.

The two-year Normal Course might be too costly for many who would make the best teachers. But if the Normal School trains in the art of teaching, which is a vastly different matter from the acquiring of personal knowledge, then it would seem that the Normal training would be the one to be extended, rather than the High School course.

Unfortunately the time of depression has hit the young people, now on the threshold of life, quite as seriously as any other members of society. There is little market for their ability or ambition.

Within everyone's recollection there have been these good and bad periods for "getting a start" in the world. All will recall the war years when students were whirled through high school and their services in instant demand. Then those emerging in the years after the war had a very hard time. The High School standard was raised, and they had difficulty in finding openings, even after graduation. Later, matters adjusted themselves and opportunities for work were presented on all sides.

Now we have struck another discouraging period, but we know that this, like all the others, will pass. Districts will open up, school teachers will be in demand and the sun will shine again.

WOMEN CONTROL TOWN'S DESTINY

They Can Make or Break a Community Through the Exercise of Their Buying Power. THEY HOLD THE PURSE STRINGS.

It has been said that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, and nowhere is this more true than in the world of trade. The woman is the purchasing agent of the household, and man, as a rule is very glad to have her handle the job.

It has been estimated that eighty per cent. of all the retail buying is done by women. This may appear to be a high estimate, but a visit to the retail stores of any town or city is enough to convince one that the figures are not too high. The preponderance of women among the buyers is sufficient at any rate to make business men realize that it is the women that they must please with their merchandise.

And because they do by far the greatest part of the buying, the women have a responsibility which they do not always realize. The women, through their buying power can make or break business men of a town, and as a natural consequence, they can make or break the town. It is in their power to make it a prosperous town or a dead one.

The merchants know this, and they know that a woman is by instinct a shrewd shopper. They know that their stocks must stand inspection for quality and values.

They do not expect her to buy first article she looks at, or tries on, but expect her, if she is a shrewd shopper, to "look around a little." They not only expect, but want her to do this, because they want her to be satisfied, knowing that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement they can have.

The same woman, however, who might show shrewd shopping instinct in a retail store may order a suit from a mail order house on the strength of nothing more than a pretty picture and an alluring description. She has not even the opportunity of trying it on, to say nothing of the chance of examining the fabric, noting the exact shade of the material and inspecting the workmanship of such a character that the suit will not fall to pieces. Such buying is not shrewd buying, but after the article is bought there is nothing to be gained by being dissatisfied. Articles sold locally must be satisfactory before the purchase is made, and inferior articles will not sell.

Women are taking a more and more prominent part in public affairs every year, and yet to what extent the welfare of any community depends on them is not fully realized. With eighty per cent of the retail buying power in their hands it is within their power to keep many dollars at home to help build a prosperous, progressive community.

BUY AT HOME

Build Up Your Own Community and Make Vulcan a Better Town for You and Your Children to Live In!

Your Dollar still has value to you after it has left your hands. If you keep it at home it will help to improve your own community--if sent away, it will help to build up some other community in which you are not interested in. Keep it at home where it will help to employ friends, where it will help pay taxes, where by increased turnover it will help to give better retail service to you and to the surrounding district.

FAITH OF PRAIRIES SPIRIT OF CANADA

Sir Josiah Stamp, Most Impressed
With West on Canadian Visit

Staunch confidence of Canada's west country in its own destiny was the most impressive point noted by Sir Josiah Stamp in his recent trip to Canada. The world-famed economist crossed the prairies to the Rockies in the course of his royal commission survey of the grain futures problem.

Not in the luxurious beauty of Ottawa's terraced lawns nor in the canyoned architecture of Toronto's Yonge Street did the kindly Briton find inspiration—for he knows the gentle beauty of south England's downs and the terrifying might of New York's man-made mountains. To Sir Josiah the spirit of Canada is the faith of the prairies.

"I consider most remarkable the tremendous development which has taken place on the prairies in the last 30 years," said Sir Josiah. "The settlements on the vast flat wheatlands expressed no touch of temerity in their transition from shack-towns to budding cities, it is evident."

He was awed at the might of the Rockies, seen in a week end jaunt to Banff, Alta., but thought "somewhat more 'homey' than Switzerland's Alps. A Saskatchewan dust storm brought him an experience he had never before known.

"Tremendous hospitality of Canada's folk made marked impression on Lady Stamp, who accompanied her husband across the prairies. Lady Stamp remarked on the manner in which a luncheon party of hundreds could be gathered on a few hours notice, saying "it couldn't be done in London." She was amazed at the indomitable spirit of present-day folk living in the rugged rock country in far west Ontario.

Even Colin and Maxwell, sons of the Stamp family, who visited Canada with their parents, found their greatest "thrills" in the west. Man's fight with nature in the oil fields of Alberta's Turner Valley seemed marvellous to Colin, and a sudden flight of hundreds of north-bound geese across Manitoba skies sent little Max into ecstasy.—Canadian Press.

MAKE FARM HOME A PRETTY PLACE

This is Year For Improving Surroundings at Little Cost

A windbreak is invaluable on any prairie farm. It holds the winter moisture within the area enclosed, and prevents the winds from wreaking havoc. Every farm household plans to have a windbreak some day, but so far there has not been time.

Already the rush of seeding is almost over and there will be a breathing spell on many farms that can be spent in starting that windbreak. There are small trees which can easily be secured from the many groves nearby.

Or if the ground were prepared by summerfallow this year, the Indian Head nursery would supply them free of charge next spring. The only requirement is to have the land prepared in readiness.

Shrubs may be obtained as native stock and which are very ornamental are saskatoon, choke cherry, wild gooseberry and others. These can be planted near the house or set out as part of the windbreak.

Once a windbreak whether of caragana, other shrubs or trees, is planted, and has grown for a few years there is much more likelihood of having a successful garden in the protected area. In addition, it gives a favorable space in which to grow strawberry plants, current bushes and fruit trees.

DREISER HOSTILE OVER PICTURES

Says They Could Do Wonders, But Conform Instead to Lowest Grade Minds

Theodore Dreiser, who is very much displeased with Hollywood's treatment of his "American Tragedy" which they are now reproducing, is very caustic in his comments. He says:

"For purely commercial reasons they try to find out what pleases the mob at his lowest, because he is most numerous.

"It doesn't occur to them that social or economic or educational problems are fit subjects for movies. They have to get back to love and sex, sex and love. If an earthquake happened, much less an economic depression, they would still be holding conferences on the right length of a kiss.

"John Dewey and other radicals say you can't interest Americans in any serious problems. Why?

It's these movies. They're making the average clerk or housewife believe that all that is important is junk and that this is the way life is to be dealt with."

Alberta will have two U.S. Consuls in future. In addition to Consul Reast of Calgary, there will be an Edmonton U.S. consulate with Mr. Harold Collins now of Quebec holding the office.

The farmers are all smiles again after the recent rain in this district. A number of fields are all ready showing results.

The United Ladies Aid held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Scott, Wednesday afternoon. C. J. Yorath, manager Natural Gas Co., predicts a decline in revenue of $40,000 in 1931.

"Even on icy days," says a fashion designer, "the modern girl is more comfortable than the old fashioned six-petticoated girl." She isn't if she slips.

To be sent to prison for seven years for the theft of a cent was the fate of four youths in Montreal. They had committed an armed hold-up which yielded them one cent. It works out at a quarter of a cent each and seven years each. Or one cent stolen and twenty-eight years penalty.

NOTES and COMMENTS

(By H. C.)

Is there such a thing as a permanent pavement? asks a correspondent. We don't believe there is, but, then, is there such a thing as a permanent wave?

In speaking of your score in golf, Allow your fancy to relax. Use the restraint you exercise In figuring out your income tax.

German and Austrian customs, officers object to the German-Austrian customs union. They should counter with a German and Austrian customs officers union.

A Baltimore editor says that "what all politicians want is publicity, and favorable publicity at that." Certainly. Publicity is just another name for advertising, and the man who wants to sell his wares must needs advertise. Of course, it is better for the politicians that the advertising be favorable, but adverse comment is better for him than no comment at all.

Ex-President Coolidge writes two hundred words a day for a chain of newspapers and his stuff is sensible and steady. It was not for nothing that, while president, he held his tongue, and it is not for nothing that he is now saying something worth while. He was doing some useful thinking while acting the Sphinx and is now able to put into reverse the axiom about speech being silver and silence gold, a valuable discovery in transmutation of metals.

Did you ever know why in England the road rule is to turn to the left? It had its origin years and years ago, when the mounted traveler held the reins in his left hand so as to leave the right free to use the sword or pistol. The necessity has passed; travel on horseback has passed; swords and pistols are well nigh obsolete, but the custom started by danger of meeting highwaymen still remains the rule of the road.

There are other customs that have survived the necessity which created them. At the opening of parliament a bill is given its first reading and it never goes any further, a survival of the struggle between King and parliament; a reminder to the monarch that parliament is not called merely to vote him supplies.

In the budget debate members may discuss anything, a result of the victory gained by parliament over Stuart monarchs whose arrogance was curbed only by financial necessity. Wanting of money was made contingent upon redress of grievances.

A member coming into or retiring from the chamber when the House is in session bows to the Speaker, a survival of a custom started when parliament met in the Chapel of Westminster, and the members made their bows, not to the Speaker, but to the altar above him.

A member on becoming a cabinet minister has to go back to his constituents for re-election, a survival from the struggle in Queen Anne's reign between the court and country parties, when the court party had a decided advantage by being able to bribe members of the country party with salaries in the household. When the latter became strong enough an act was passed that no member could accept a position of enrolment under the crown without first obtaining the consent of his constituents. This act is being modified by some legislatures, but I am not persuaded that the necessity for it has passed. A government returned with a slim majority might easily increase its own strength and correspondingly decrease the strength of the opposition by inviting an opposition member into the cabinet. The enrolment is a tempting bait and the member accepting could enjoy it four or five years and snap his fingers at indignant constituents. An opposition could not be re-elected as a government supporter even though, and perhaps because, he carried a portfolio in his itching hand, and the electors should not be left powerless in the event of their member accepting a ministerial post in a government he had just been elected to oppose. The act has sometimes operated to the disadvantage of able men with small majorities and to the advantage of mediocre men with safe ridings, but it cannot be safely repealed.
